

Free Business Organization Membership and Conference

Did you know that students with a two-year degree in the supply chain field earn, on average, over $77,000/year? Candidates with four-year degrees in supply chain management fields average over $126,000/year.

Through special funding, you can now join the premier supply chain management association, CSCMP, for free.

As a student member, you can attend their annual Edge 2021 Conference virtually, September 19th - 22nd, for free. This membership is a $40/year value, brought to you by Strong Workforce Program funding, Powered by California Community Colleges.

Access to the conference is provided to you because companies are desperately seeking students with supply chain management education and experience.

At the conference, you gain access to:

- Leading companies in the Supply Chain Exchange
- Opening Sessions
- Select EDGE Sessions
- Townhall Series Sessions
- Connections to top supply chain professionals

As a CSCMP student member, through the Southern California Roundtable, you gain access to networking with local employers, opportunities to tour companies, and chances to learn more about the many roles, jobs, and industries that are part of supply chain management.

Learn more about the growing and lucrative field of supply chain management.

Contact Erin Thomas, Associate Business Professor, at Coastline College, to obtain membership and conference registration instructions, and to answer any questions.
